

What is the first thing you think when you look at this picture? Just another typical set of stairs that you are going to have to walk up and wear yourself out for no apparent reason, right? Not if your name is Ian Eisenberg. This is yet another obstacle to throw yourself down, and hope you land on your skateboard, to prove yourself to your biggest critic, which in my case is myself. Get a whole new perspective on life in my autobiography, and learn what it takes to make it as a skateboarder. Open up, and find out what it means to DESTROY EVERYTHING NOW!!!

